

NFT MARKETPLACE ARTCHIVE ANNOUNCES ITS 'ANYTIME WALLET' IN DEVELOPMENT

The forthcoming platform will be launching a unique pocketbook for users as a part of their many features to enable better accessibility within the blockchain.

NEW YORK, NY – DEC. 15, 2021 – ARTCHIVE, a Solana-based exclusive NFT marketplace, debuts the launch of their very own “Anytime Wallet,” a pocketbook furnished with dual storage capability, for both NFTs and cryptocurrencies.

At the forefront of systems with ultra-security and user-friendly navigation, “Anytime Wallet” holders will receive significant fringe benefits, early access to exclusive NFTs, discounts and much more. This pocketbook will allow for more users on the platform, as it makes the buying and trading of NFTs and cryptocurrencies easy to use and highly accessible.

“ARTCHIVE’s technology is fully constructed in-house,” says William Meyer, Chief Technical Officer of ARTCHIVE. “This allows the platform to have the authority over what’s possible within the marketplace, including the ability to develop our original ‘Anytime Wallet.’”

ABOUT ARTCHIVE

The red carpet of NFTs, ARTCHIVE provides a platform for NFT-powered fine arts and photography designed for the community on the Solana blockchain. Through collaborations with established and influential artists and partners, ARTCHIVE brings forth a secured, user-friendly NFT marketplace, scalable blockchain and a paired native token (ARTC). The ARTCHIVE mission is to ignite a creator-centric platform that leverages blockchain in a powerful way.
